Compulsory vaccine

Bill Gates has said "Normalcy only returns when we largely vaccinate the entire population." In an article in USA Today three doctors wrote that a coronavirus vaccine should be mandatory, and denial of many government and private services ought to be considered for those refusing it, because they are threatening the lives of others. The unvaccinated should not be allowed into businesses, shops, schools, transport or meeting places (including churches). They then outlined how a "registry of immunisation will be needed with names entered after immunisation is completed." People who receive the vaccine should be issued "certification cards".

A recent survey showed that around 50% of people in the USA would refuse to have such a vaccine because of fears about untested vaccines which may have safety issues which show up later. They have been alarmed to hear that drug companies have been given immunity so they cannot be sued or held accountable if something goes wrong. Some have religious objections to vaccines that use foetal tissue, parts of aborted babies. At the extreme end of the 'anti-Vaxxers' are those who say that the vaccines are part of a 'plandemic' aimed at reducing the world's population.

Dr Carrie Madej, a US doctor, described a vaccine programme on Nexus newsfeed: 'Human 2.0 – a wake up call to the world.' This is a summary of her talk.

She described a vaccine being developed by a company called Moderna and backed by some very powerful and influential people in the hi-tech world, Elon Musk CEO of Tesla, Ray Kurzweil of Google, Bill Gates of Microsoft. It is not like a normal vaccine, but is truly experimental on the human race, introducing technologies which change the way we live, who we are and what we are. She described this as Human 2.0. This is about moving from human 1.0 (normal humanity as we are now) to Human 2.0 by merging humans with artificial intelligence, something called transhumanism.

The programme works on three phases, known as transfection, luciferase, and hydrogel. The transfection phase contains a synthetic piece of DNA with the code of the virus, which is able to reproduce itself once inside the body. This means that a genetically modified programme has entered your body able to alter your body's DNA. By this means the body learns how to fight the virus and develop immunity to it.

The next part of the programme is called Luciferase enzyme. Luciferase can produce a light or a light source under your skin. This is able to tell whether the transfection has been successful and that the gene modification has taken place. A smart phone can scan over the area vaccinated and give a digital code that will identify that you are vaccinated. It will then hold your vaccination record, and give you an ID, a number, a bar code and a mark.

The third phase of the programme is known as Hydrogel. It is an invention of DARPA, the Department of Advanced Research Projects Agency at the US Pentagon. It is a product of nano-technology, which is the manipulation of matter on an atomic scale. This means that microscopic little robots will be injected under your skin. This means you now have an artificial intelligence inside of you able to connect with an artificial intelligence outside of you gathering information from our bodies and able to connect with a smartphone, the Internet cloud or some other smart device. It can monitor what goes on inside your body, and function like a doctor inside of you 24/7. Like your cell phone, it can send and receive information. This could now receive information which could affect mood, behaviour, memory and how we think, even possibly affect what we think and do.

Watching this programme my initial thought was this can't be true, it has to be some kind of mad science fiction story. Some have accused Carrie Madej of giving out false information in a 'conspiracy theory.' However there is a lot of information out there about the use of Artificial Intelligence, linking humans to machines and advanced technology in order to improve, health, intellectual ability and performance. Russian leader, Vladimir Putin, once said 'He who learns to control AI (artificial intelligence) will control the world.'

According to Wikipedia: 'Luciferase is a generic term for the class of oxidative enzymes that produce bioluminescence. The name was first used by Raphaël Dubois who invented the word derived from the Latin word Lucifer meaning light bearer.' Bible believers might consider there is another reason for the Lucifer connection.

Here are two articles which describes how this works, written from a sympathetic point of view, not a conspiracy theory exposé.

'A project funded by Bill Gates aims to deliver an invisible quantum tattoo hidden in the coronavirus vaccine for storing your vaccination history. The researchers showed that their new dye, which consists of nanocrystals called quantum dots, can remain for at least five years under the skin, where it emits near-infrared light that can be detected by a specially equipped smartphone.'

Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) researchers have developed a clandestine way to record your vaccination history, storing the data in a pattern of dye or tattoo ink, invisible to the naked eye, that is slipped under the skin hidden in your vaccine and able to detect your vaccination history. The researchers showed that their new dye, which consists of nanocrystals called quantum dots, can remain for at least five years under the skin, where it emits near-infrared light that can be detected by a specially equipped smartphone. It is also acknowledged that this is the enzyme that will light up through the Human Implantable Quantum Dot Microneedle Vaccination Delivery System called Luciferase.

Such a process may not be used for the Covid vaccine at this stage in history, but the fact that they are working on this sounds very much like something that could be used for the Mark of the Beast system of Revelation 13.
